Reviews

This pdf is definitely not easy to get started on studying but quite entertaining to read through. I am quite late in start reading this one, but better then never. Once you begin to read the book, it is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding.

Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Report on the Relative Merit of Various Stocks for the Orange: With Notes on Mal Di Goma and the Mutual Influence of Stock and Scion For a number of years the question of the proper stock upon which to bud the orange has been actively discussed, but no decisive conclusions have heretofore been reached to aid an inexperienced planter in the selection of the stock upon which to found his grove. Recognizing the necessity of some guide to the subject, the Department of Agriculture, through the Division of Pomology, issued early in the current fiscal year a circular to the orange growers of Florida and Louisiana, asking for an opinion, based upon their individual experience, in regard to the merit of the several stocks in use, and particularly in regard to the sweet (Citrus aurantium) and sour (C. Bigaradia) orange stocks. Numerous replies have been received, and upon them the conclusions and recommendations of the present paper are based. The author's personal views have been eliminated as carefully as possible. Circulars were not sent to California, as the introduction of the sour orange stock there is too recent to warrant a final judgment upon its value, but correspondence has been had with some of the growers in that State who have had experience in the matter. Conclusions deduced from the reports of experienced cultivators will doubtless be considered of practical importance to those desiring to plant orange orchards, and may thus serve to lessen the cost of production of fruit, so that both grower and consumer may be benefited. The work of collating the information given in the circulars returned has been committed to...
