Not illustrated. 1914 Excerpt: .materials to be used in a particular machine, such as initial cost, weight, efficiency, etc. Pics. 20jand 206--Solid and split construction of yoke for multi-polar dynamos. In the latter type the yoke is in two halves joined along a horizontal diameter; while the upper half may be conveniently removed to give access to the armature, it has the disadvantage of the joint, which, no matter how well made, will add to the reluctance of the magnetic circuit. The figures also illustrate the circular and segmental forms of yoke construction. Ques. In the construction of field magnets, what governs the choice of materials? Ans. For cores, wrought iron is most desirable, as requiring the smallest amount of material for a given flux. There is a saving in copper due to using wrought iron for the core since, on account of its small size, the length of each turn of th magnetizing coil is reduced For heavy yokes, where lightness is not essential, but very often the reverse, cast iron is used, as its cross section can be made larger than that of the cores, this ncrease in area serving to give strength and rigidity to the machine. Cast steel occupies a place intermediate between cast iron and wrought iron both in cost and magnetic properties. Js. 207 to 209.--Various sections of cast iron yoke. In form, these yokes may be either circular or segmental as shown in figs. 20,5 and 20o. Figs. 210 to 212.--Various sections of...
